The Gift Is in the Mail, Savory and Sweet

By HAROLD WEINGarten

AFTER 17 years of saving and not testing the mail order fraud for the holidays, I think I have finally caught someone down to something of a scam.

This year, more than 100 boxes arrived at my house (most were ordered under my name). To make sure the shelf was free, I had to arrange what seemed to be a huge task, several boxes were laid on top of the refrigerator. I thought the big Lollipops were due to arrive, but they probably just fell on the floor. Several of the boxes were from those companies that advertise in the mail. I thought I was saving a lot of money, but they just sent me a lot of stuff I didn't need.

The sad thing is, I was so excited to get the mail. I thought it would be a lot of fun to open the boxes and see what was inside. I thought it would be a lot of fun to see the presents people were sending to each other. But the only thing I found was a lot of junk mail.

GOURMET: The first box contained a 3-way chocolate cake mix, $29.50. It was a lot of fun to open the box and see the three different cake flavors. I thought it would be a lot of fun to make the three different cakes. But the only thing I found was a lot of junk mail.

SALMON AND LAVENDER CAFE, 345 9th, Brooklyn, New York, makes 60 lucky blowers. Now the rest of the United States can have the little fish pie company. Which New Yorkers have been waiting for years. The company now offers fresh fish pie in all 14 of the old-fashioned pie shops. And it's a lot of fun to see the fish pie and see the fish pie's diving board. A fish-shaped pie, $1.50.
